Two original stories inspired by classic cinema. If you liked the movie, you'll love its Cinspiration. COPWEB was inspired by the 1955 film "Cobweb" starring Richard Widmark and Lauren Bacall. Esteemed psychiatrist Dr. Brent Havidol has, by all appearances, an enviable life as the head of mental clinic specializing in a self-policing environment for privileged young adults. But appearances can be deceiving, as his disintegrating marriage and attraction to a new lady psychologist complicate matters. However, the complications arising from the introduction of live theater produced and performed by the patients are what put his reputation and career on the line. New patient Kip, who has a crush on the play's girl director, comes to her rescue by providing a stage curtain solution, but an opening night calamity leads to compounding misfortunes. Misplaced affections and bad assumptions flame a VD scare and muddy relationships across both staff and patients. Events snowball to test and rock the foundation of the clinic's therapeutic model. Set in 1955, "Copweb" shines a light on professionals who get so wrapped up in their own lives they forget about the mental problems their unstable patients have. BEYOND THE FLORIST was inspired by the 1949 film "Beyond the Forest" starring Bette Davis and Joseph Cotten. Beautiful Rhoda Malone is a bored, restless housewife who wants to escape Dependaboro, a small flower town with a stench that's wilting her. However, her husband Fred, the local psychoist, has no desire to leave the townspeople whose mental health relies on him. When wealthy, handsome Trent Boscum breezes into town on his seaplane with plans to build a new flower factory there, Rhoda decides he'll be her ticket out of the petunia-picking, snap-dragon-scented, bee-bitten burg. She wastes no time bedding him and makes plans to anoint him husband number two. Now, she has to figure out, short of murder, how to get rid of husband number one. But like a Dependaboro rose bush, things get thorny and seedy, with kidnapping, violence, and movie fandom all playing a role. Set in 1949, "Beyond the Florist" harkens back to those days when being labeled a communist was worse than child molester. Just like today.
