41XTTN - BUCKLEY MARCO

Long hailed as a seminal work of modernism in the tradition of Joyce and Kafka, and now available in a supple new English translation, Italo Svevo's charming and splendidly idiosyncratic novel conducts readers deep into one hilariously hyperactive and endlessly self-deluding mind. The mind in question belongs to Zeno Cosini, a neurotic Italian businessman who is writing his confessions at the behest of his psychiatrist. Here are Zeno's interminable attempts to quit smoking, his courtship of the beautiful yet unresponsive Ada, his unexpected-and unexpectedly happy-marriage to Ada's homely sister Augusta, and his affair with a shrill-voiced aspiring singer. Relating these misadventures with wry wit and a perspicacity at once unblinking and compassionate, Zeno's Conscience is a miracle of psychological realism.

Benjamin G. Kohl (1938-2010) taught at Vassar College from 1966 till his retirement as Andrew W. Mellon Professor of the Humanities in 2001. His doctoral research at The Johns Hopkins University was directed by Frederic C. Lane, and his principal historical interests focused on northern Italy during the Renaissance, especially on Padua and Venice. His scholarly production includes the volumes Padua under the Carrara, 1318-1405 (1998), and Culture and Politics in Early Renaissance Padua (2001), and the on-line database The Rulers of Venice, 1332-1524 (2009). The database is eloquent testimony of his priority attention to historical sources and to their accessibility, and also of his enthusiasm for collaboration and sharing among scholars.

The editors should be commended for taking on such a big task, and succeeding so well. This book should be in the library of every institution where students have to write a paper that may be related to sport, or on the shelf of any lecturer teaching economics or public finance who has even a remote interest in sport. The material is very accessible, and useful in many different settings. Ruud H. Koning, Jahrbücher f. Nationalökonomie u. Statistik Edward Elgar's brilliant market niche is identifying a topic in economics, finding editors who know the area backwards and challenging them to assemble the best cross-section of relevant articles either already published or newly commissioned. Handbook on the Economics of Sport is Edward Elgar at its very best. If you love economics you'll find many fascinating insights here; if you love sport but know little economics then this book is mostly accessible and will teach you a lot; and if you are a sports-mad economist then you will be in hog heaven. Furthermore, if, like this reviewer, you are broadly very sceptical about the reports consultants produce for governments on the supposed economic windfall from hosting a big event or subsidising a stadium then you will get a lot of good counter-arguments in this volume. Indeed there are several chapters on the above theme that I'm sure I'll be copying frequently to government officials in years to come. . . The demand for sport is a fascinating subject and it is hard to pick out just one chapter from the second section. Read them all they make a wonderful 65-page treat. . . Part VI was a real feast, a smorgasbord. . . This is a magnificent piece of work and the 36-page index rounds it all off splendidly. John Blundell, Economic Affairs The book covers the most important areas of research of an emerging economic sub-discipline spanning the past half a century. It serves admirably the purpose of an introduction into the rich and growing area of reflection for all concerned. . . the editors and authors of the Handbook have done a commendable job of accumulating sophisticated material for many economists, managers, politicians and self-conscious fans, who are sure to find excellent training ground for the whole heptathlon. . . This book will be invaluable for advanced students investigating professional sport. From the point of view of lawyers, particularly those engaged with the relationship between law and sports governance, the Handbook offers invaluable analysis of the economic issues that are alluded to in those debates but rarely examined in detail. . . These insights will also prove useful for policy analysts and sports administrators for whom many sections should be considered mandatory reading. Aleksander Sulejewicz, Journal of Contemporary European Research Over 800 pages on the economics of sport. What a feast! What a treat! The editors have done a wonderful job both in terms of breadth from David Beckham to child labour in Pakistan and depth, tournaments and luxury taxes for example. . . The 86 chapters are uniformly of a very high standard and illuminating. And there are real gems in some of the contributions. British Journal on the Economics of Sport This very interesting and comprehensive book achieves its objective, namely to present an overview of research in sports economics at an introductory level. . . [The editors] have produced an excellent reference book that belongs in all academic institutions libraries. It provides extensive introduction to the growing body of literature in the rising field of economics of sport. The book's relevant monographs should be read by institutions, cities and countries prior to their committing major resources towards sports facilities or a sporting event. James Angresano, Journal of Sports Economics One could think of this book as the sports-and-economics counterpart to Joy of Cooking, because it will satisfy the needs of those with a keen interest in such subjects as the Best practices for nonprofits for long-term success in a rapidly changing world. Building Smart Nonprofits: A Roadmap for Mission Success is a handbook of best practices nonprofits can use to improve sustainability - a book of knowledge and know-how distilled from interviews with over 60 industry leaders who are in the nonprofit trenches every day—as executives, leaders, board members, funders, publishers, and service providers. David J. O'Brien and Matthew D. Craig provide real-life examples of nonprofits deploying best practices and emerging industry trends - such as the rise of socially conscious investing - to position their organizations for the long term. Topics include, among others, funding models, impact investing, compensation, strategic restructuring, leadership, full-cost grantmaking, program evaluation, storytelling, and financing. Readers learn how to best position their non-profit organization for a sustainable and long-term future. «Fare lavoro di servizio oggi significa confrontarsi con bisogni individuali che cambiano continuamente in rapporto alle profonde trasformazioni socio-demografiche in corso. La competenza dell'assistente sociale è particolarmente adatta a interagire con queste situazioni, perché conosce gli assetti istituzionali e sa adeguare la professione alle azioni organizzative necessarie. Il libro di Annarita Manocchio è un esempio interessante di questo stile e modalità di agire. I temi messi in analisi sono svariati: le politiche che mutano in rapporto al mercato; i diversi modelli di welfare (statunitense ed europeo); lo specifico caso italiano caratterizzato dalla complessa interazione fra Stato, Regioni, enti locali; la sostenibilità del sistema in relazione ai bisogni; la mutualità sanitaria come contributo al funzionamento delle cure per la tutela della salute. Tuttavia l'elemento più originale di questo testo è la sistematica analisi delle innovazioni determinate dal Web. L'utilizzo esteso di queste tecnologie influenza profondamente la vita delle persone e si riflette in modo importante sulle istituzioni di servizio. Ecco allora che la metodologia del "lavoro di rete" tipica della cultura del servizio sociale acquista una nuova centralità da adattare al recente contesto." *Paolo Ferrario è Professore emerito di Politiche Sociali alle Università di Venezia Cà Foscari e Milano Bicocca. Attualmente gestisce il blog di ricerca e documentazione Mappeser.com «Sono infinitamente grato ad Annarita per essere riuscita, attraverso la stesura di questo suo libro, a evidenziare con estrema semplicità e chiarezza i punti di forza del progetto S.O.S. La web communication, quale strumento principale della diffusione del nuovo modo di comunicare e "fare" il servizio sociale, ha permesso agli assistenti sociali di aprire una finestra su un nuovo mondo costellato da azioni quali la condivisione, l'interazione e il confronto. La naturale evoluzione di questo passaggio epocale è stata la messa in posa dei primi mattoncini per la costruzione di una vera e propria comunità professionale. Annarita, nel descrivere con dovizia di particolari questo nuovo fenomeno ha avuto la capacità di dar forma in poche pagine l'esatta "vision" del progetto S.O.S. e cioè partire da una micro comunità professionale costituita dai membri dello Staff per generare una grande rete di condivisione professionale dove sviluppare un senso di appartenenza alla famiglia professionale degli assistenti sociali. Grazie Annarita, tutto lo Staff di S.O.S. ti è grato per questo dono che hai voluto offrire a tutti noi» *Antonio Bellicoso è Assistente sociale specialista, Direttore del Portale di servizio sociale professionale "S.O.S. Merck, noto colosso della farmaceutica, ha recentemente assunto il controllo della concorrente Schering-Plough. Il corrispettivo dell'acquisizione è stato quantificato in 49,4 miliardi di dollari, ben 36,5 miliardi in più del patrimonio netto del gruppo acquisito (12,9 miliardi). Dalla contabilizzazione (preliminare) della business combination è emerso che il valore degli intangibili specifici acquisiti è pari a 36,7 miliardi, mentre l'avviamento pagato è di 19,1 miliardi di dollari. L'aggregazione fra Merck e Schering-Plough è un esempio della straordinaria e crescente importanza attribuita dagli investitori agli intangibili (soprattutto quelli specifici) nella formazione dei prezzi di acquisizione. Ecco perché, nell'ambito della contabilizzazione delle operazioni di aggregazione aziendale in base all'IFRS 3 Business Combinations, il tema dell'identificazione e valutazione degli intangibili specifici acquisiti è tra quelli di maggior rilievo. Peraltro, se da un lato gli esperti sono chiamati sempre più spesso a esprimersi in merito alle categorie di intangibili rilevabili e al loro valore, dall'altro permangono ancora, nelle applicazioni professionali, difficoltà e incertezze talvolta rilevanti. Il libro analizza il quadro normativo di riferimento e affronta, con un approccio operativo e con l'ausilio di numerosi casi tratti dalle esperienze professionali maturate negli ultimi anni, le principali problematiche legate all'identificazione e alla valutazione degli intangibili specifici acquisiti. Tutto ciò alla luce dei principi contenuti nelle guide emanate negli ultimi anni da associazioni professionali come l'AICPA, l'IVSC, TAF a integrazione degli standard contabili.

This book is a timely addition to the fast-growing international debate on Integrated Reporting, which offers a holistic view of the evolution and practice of Integrated Reporting. The book covers the determinants and consequences of Integrated Reporting, as well as examining some of the most relevant issues (particularly in the context of the United States) in the debate about Integrated Reporting.

First published in 1990. Routledge is an imprint of Taylor & Francis, an informa company.

This report reflects long-term, in-depth discussion and debate by participants in the Latin American Roundtable on Corporate Governance.

Di cosa ha bisogno il paese per affrontare e superare la crisi economica, politica e morale nella quale si dibatte da alcuni decenni e che è precipitata in questi ultimi mesi? Certamente di una nuova visione della realtà ma, soprattutto, di idee concrete e realizzabili che incarnino inedite modalità di approccio alla gestione di settori decisivi della pubblica amministrazione, dell'economia, della cultura e della società. Questi progetti sono frutto di percorsi e idee diverse, ma sono accomunati dalla volontà di guardare a esperienze internazionali in modo pragmatico e dentro una logica che supera vecchie visioni della realtà. Scritti di: Mario Brunello, violoncellista, fondatore di Antiruggine; Aldo Cibic, designer e fondatore di CibicWorkshop; Gigi Copiello, sindacalista e Luca Vignaga, direttore risorse umane; Roberto Daneo, direttore del Comitato di candidatura Expo Milano 2015; Silvia Fattore, già sindaco di Villanova di Camposampiero; Maria Luisa Frisa, fashion curator, direttore del corso di laurea in design della moda e arti multimediali dell'Università IUAV di Venezia, presidente dell'Associazione italiana degli studi di moda; Guido Guerzoni, economista, docente all'Università Bocconi di Milano, esperto di economia dei beni culturali; Massimo Malvestio, avvocato, opinionista, autore di Mala Gestio; Davide Rampello, già presidente della Fondazione Triennale di Milano, direttore artistico del Padiglione Zero Expo 2015; Andrea Segrè, agronomo ed economista, docente all'Università di Bologna e fondatore di Last Minute Market; Ester Zito, ricercatrice dell'Istituto Telethon Dulbecco.

The International Federation of Library Associations and Institutions (IFLA) is the leading international body representing the interests of library and information services and their users. It is the global voice of the information profession. The series IFLA Publications deals with many of the means through which libraries, information centres, and information professionals worldwide can formulate their goals, exert their influence as a group, protect their interests, and find solutions to global problems.

When talking about justice, we mean more than its day-to-day administration involving officials, institutions, and those most affected. We also refer to an ideal: a set of basic values which guide living together and infuse the distribution of rights and duties, options and obligations, freedoms and restrictions. Losing this reference point means the administration of justice will suffer too, by having lost its sense of direction. With thirty years' experience in the Italian judiciary and dozens of influential judicial inquiries to his name Gherardo Colombo reflects on the culture of justice and the profound meaning of rules. Without respecting rules, we cannot live in society.

Patient engagement should be envisaged as a key priority today to innovate healthcare services delivery and to make it more effective and sustainable. The experience of engagement is a key qualifier of the exchange between the demand (i.e. citizens/patients) and the supply process of healthcare services. To understand and detect the strategic levers that sustain a good quality of patients' engagement may thus allow not only to improve clinical outcomes, but also to increase patients' satisfaction and to reduce the organizational costs of the delivery of services. By assuming a relational marketing perspective, the book offers practical insights about the developmental process of patients' engagement, by suggesting concrete tools for assessing the levels of patients' engagement and strategies to sustain it. Crucial resources to implement these strategies are also the new technologies that should be (1) implemented according to precise guidelines and (2) designed according to a user-centered design process. Furthermore, the book describes possible fields of patients' engagement application by describing the best practices and experiences matured in different fields

Agriculture, forestry and fishery statistics provides a selection of recent, topical data. Information is presented for the European Union (EU) and its Member States, and is supplemented (when available) with data for the United Kingdom, EFTA members, candidate countries to the EU and potential candidates. This publication aims to cover some of the most popular data within the domain of agriculture, forestry and fishery statistics as well as some of the wider food chain. It may be viewed as an introduction to European statistics in this area and provides a starting point for those who wish to explore the broad range of data that are freely available on Eurostat's website.

Music is rooted in the heart of Western culture. The absence of music from the usual publications of medieval history and history of art of the Middle Ages is understandable, considering the rarity of sources. And yet, throughout the last decades, an intense activity of historico-musicological research has been carried out internationally by a select group of specialized scholars. The ambitious goal of this work is to set medieval music within its historical and cultural context and to provide readers interested in different disciplines with an overall picture of music in the Middle Ages; multi-faceted, enjoyable, yet scientifically rigorous. To achieve this goal, the most prominent scholars of medieval musicology were invited to participate, along with archaeologists, experts of acoustics and architecture, historians and philosophers of medieval thought. The volume offers exceptional iconography and several maps, to accompany the reader in a fascinating journey through a network of places, cultural influences, rituals and themes.
