French Film Theory and Criticism: A History/Anthology ...

These two volumes examine a significant but previously neglected moment in French cultural history: the emergence of French film theory and criticism before the essays of Andr Bazin. Richard Abel has devised an organizational scheme of six nearly symmetrical periods that serve to bite into the discursive flow of early French writing on the cinema.

The resurgent interest in classical film theory helps us understand how critical concepts that dominated the pages of Cahiers du cinéma or Positif – particularly the notions of “mise-en-scène,” “ontology of art” or “politique des auteurs” – became incorporated by film theory. In this article, I propose that we grant attention to Rancière’s skepticism regarding the natural extension from criticism to theory. Send Email.
