If this is a man: Remembering Auschwitz: Primo Levi ...

Survival in Auschwitz (If this is a man) Introduction. After joining a small group of anti-Fascist partisans hiding out in the Italian forests (and doing a pretty amateur job of it, according to the author), Primo Levi was captured by the Fascists in 1943 and sent to a detention camp in Italy.

The following words were written by Primo Levi, a Jew who suffered, during World War II, in the Nazi work camp known as Monowitz, aka Auschwitz III. The title of this poem is "If this is a man". You who live safe In your warm houses, You who find, returning in the evening, Hot food...

Levi doesn't deny this, but seeks an intellectual and philosophical response as well. That the events of the holocaust could ever have happened should not only bring us to tears, but it should make us think - and centrally about this question, "If this is a man".

The following poem--"If This Is a Man"--is perhaps Levi's most profound and anguished literary response to his experience of the Holocaust. It challenges the reader--or the hearer--to acknowledge the comfort of her circumstances and then to consider whether another in radically different circumstances can even be considered a man or a woman.
