Reflective practice is built on the work of Dewey, Schön, Kolb, and then Boud. Dewey's ideas regard reflection as an active process, and that consideration should be "active, persistent and careful" (Dewey 1933). Schön separated the reflection that occurs after the lesson has taken place, and reflection you do while you're teaching. Schön proposed that the more reflection you do after the lesson, the easier it will be to reflect during the lesson.
