Yes is more is the title of an exhibition and a book presenting B.I.G. in solo format for the first time in Denmark at the Danish architecture centre. Unlike a classic architectural monograph, this book is more of a popular cultural manifesto, which is also literally the first actual documentation of B.I.G.'s trailblazing practice.

Action-Packed Architecture! A manifesto of architecture as seen by the Copenhagen-based group BIG, told in comic book form.
 Yes is More is unique book written by Danish architect Bjarke Ingels, head of the well-known architectural practice BIG (Bjarke Ingels Group). It's a manifesto of architecture, a comic book about architectural evolution told in a simple way, in the style of a graphic novel.
 By staging the exhibition, 'Yes is More', the Danish Architecture Center (DAC) zooms in on one of Danish architecture's most successful and innovative architectural companies. This exhibition forms part of a pilot project called 'Close up', which through exhibitions, debates, seminars and teaching sessions takes a long, hard look at new tendencies, theories and challenges within Danish architecture.

Yes is More is the rare book that combines a manifesto on the new (?) course architecture should take, the presentation of a large number of projects designed by the BIG Danish architecture power-house, a large number of anecdotes and stories related to all these projects, all wrapped-up as a comic. Overall, the manifesto is weak and the presentation is often self-serving, but the architecture, the stories behind getting projects done, and the archicomic ideas are fantastic.
